

Idaho

New law went into effect on Jan. 1 allowing drivers to buy special pro-life license plates for their cars that read "Choose Life." The drivers would pay $35. The proceeds will go toward pro-life activities in that state.

Montana

Both houses of the state legislature passed four bills. One would ban abortions after 20 weeks. Others would require a mother to see an ultrasound of her baby before she can get an abortion, restrict the availability of abortion-inducing drugs and protect babies born alive during botched abortions.

Kansas

State Senate and State House passed a proposal to amend the state constitution to exclude the right to abortion. It has to be approved by the voters before the constitution can be amended. The voters will get to vote on it in 2022.

Indiana

New law took effect in January requiring pregnant women to get an ultrasound 18 hours - less than a day - before a scheduled abortion.

South Carolina

State Senate and State House of Representatives passed a bill banning abortions once a baby's heartbeat can be detected - at around the sixth week of pregnancy.

Florida

State Senate introduced a bill to ban abortion after 20 weeks.
